GETTING EDUCATED TO UNDERSTAND PARENTING

BODY BINGO®

Body Bingo® is a great way for players to recognize body parts, spell the name of the part and relate that part to the rest of the body. Twenty body (20) parts are identified with colorful pictures used to help play the game. Body parts are labeled to aid reading skills. The game is great for young children, English as Second Language speakers, nursing homes, Alzheimer's patients, church groups, etc. Each game comes with 15 different playing cards, 20 body parts cards, master game boards, and chips. The game cards, body parts cards, and master game boards are printed on sturdy cardstock for durability.

$18.00 each

USE YOUR MANNERS BINGO®

Got Manners? Use Your Manners Bingo® helps to reinforce social skills with players. Manners need to be reinforced with adults as well as young children. People in group settings need to remember and use polite and courteous words and actions. There are 30 manners statements that range from "Good Morning" to "Hold the Door for Others" in different colors and fonts for visual discrimination. Each game comes with 15 different playing cards, 30 manners topic cards, master game boards, and chips. The game cards, manners topic cards, and master game boards are printed on sturdy cardstock for durability. There are two versions of this game. One version has picture cues to aid nonreaders in recognizing each statement and the second version is for readers.

Shape Up for School®

Ready for School? Shape Up for School®, in Preschool and Kindergarten/1st Grade versions, reinforce skills that children and students learning English should know. Many of the skills refer to the Virginia's Foundation Blocks for Early Learning standards and SOLs. The player moves on the floor through the life size "game board" by answering questions. The game includes 26 colorful foam shapes(9 colors/5 shapes) which are 10" minimum (for the game board), with a upper/lowercase letters of the alphabet on one side. There are also 50 questions, 1-5 number cards, and a die. The questions and number cards are printed on sturdy cardstock for durability. The foam shapes can be placed on the floor, in a straight line or in more advanced formations for designing the game path. Coming Soon- 2nd/3rd grade and 4th /5th grade versions.
